Additional Information

- The successor holder of a TFSA is the surviving spouse or common-law partner who, following the death of the holder, will acquire all rights as the holder of the Account. If a successor holder is designated, a beneficiary designation is not permitted.
- The beneficiary(ies) of a TFSA is(are) the person(s) to whom the property of a TFSA is distributed following the death of the holder.
- A successor holder or beneficiary designation by means of a designation form generally will not be revoked or changed automatically by any future marriage/divorce or other change in spousal status. To change the successor holder or beneficiary in the event of a future change in spousal status, a new designation will be required and may require a specific form of waiver.
- The rights of a spouse or common-law partner, as may be defined under applicable provincial or territorial law, may override any beneficiary designation.
- Where a beneficiary is a minor child, a trustee and/or guardian of the minor child's property should be validly appointed under applicable provincial or territorial law.
- A designation of a successor holder or beneficiary(ies) made, changed or revoked by a person acting under a power of attorney is generally not valid and may not be given effect.
- In Quebec, designations cannot be made using this form. Upon death, the proceeds of the Account will be part of the estate and paid out in accordance with the terms of the Will, or if there is no Will, in accordance with the applicable intestacy rules.
